- Hotel guests attending an event at a hotel where food or drink is provided for on-site consumption must provide proof of vaccination.

Would any CBAs override the vaccine mandate?

- No, language in a CBA cannot override a public health order. Employers should consult with their labor attorneys to determine what may be required in further dealings with their unions in this situation.

Can businesses retain copies of employee vaccine cards?

- There is nothing prohibiting an employer from retaining copies of vaccination cards if employees are made aware of the employer's policy to do so, and with such notice, the employees willingly provided their cards. However, the order does not require that the employer maintain copies, but only confirm vaccination status or require weekly testing of those employees who fail to confirm vaccination status. The CCDPH Business Vaccination Compliance plan includes a documentation template that allows businesses to record that status is documented and meets the requirements without making card copies necessary. That plan is available here.
